- Unmarked Sabers

Sabers used by the United States cavalry and artillery in the Civil War are the most popular of all antique American swords. But until now, information about these fascinating weapons has been surprisingly scarce. Those days are over! In this long-awaited new book, John Thillmann (supported by what can only be called a "dream team" of famous sword experts) tells you everything you need to know. For instance, the selection of previously unknown makers and types (illustrated here for the very first time) is remarkable. It doesn't matter whether your interest is enlisted sabers, officers' sabers, militia purchases or exquisite presentation pieces. It's all in here: every maker, every importer, every foreign manufacturer, every assembler, every model and every variation – including unmarked examples! 520 pp., glossy paper, hardcover, $79.95 + $4.50.

- ✓ Covers all cavalry and artillery sabers carried by officers and men in the Federal forces from the introduction of the model 1833 dragoon sabers until the end of the Civil War.
- ✓ Hundreds of handy tables list the measurements and features you need to know. Identify fakes and rebuilds before you make that costly mistake!
- ✓ 1,373 illustrations show you the correct markings, blade etchings, grip wrappings and other small details usually left out of the photographs in sword books. A huge selection of historical pictures shows these swords in the hands of the men who used them.
- ✓ A lavish, 16-page color section celebrates the full beauty of these sabers, including some of the very finest presentation swords and rarities in existence.
- ✓ Every single known manufacturer and sword type is covered.
